

Oil industry giant, Exxon-Mobil Oil Corporation commissioned master sculptor Boban to create "Pegasus and Globe", a magnificent rendering of the long-time symbol of Mobil Oil, the mythical Pegasus, in spoons and steel, rearing up gracefully to touch the globe, as if to keep it on its axis. A tribute to the global impact that Exxon-Mobil has had on the petrol-chemical industry worldwide and to the ingenuity, skill, vision, and unique style that is Boban.

Fast-food giant, McDonald's Corporation commissioned master sculptor Boban to create "McAtlas", a proud figure of spoons and steel balancing the famous McDonald's arches effortlessly above his head, for their corporate collection, a tribute to the ingenuity, skill, vision, and unique style that Boban has brought to America and to the world. As in his other works, "McAtlas" is depicted at the zenith of stride and balance, a figure in motion, ever moving forward with tireless intensity.

Chicago's Lincoln Park is graced with master sculptor Boban's public installation "Renaissance Man", a proud and graceful creation of steel, confidently stepping forward from a perfect point of balance, ready to take on the challenges of a new becoming in the 21st century and beyond. This creation is another prime example of, and tribute to, the skill, vision, and unique style that is Boban, and that has brought so much energy to the world of contemporary sculpture. "Renaissance Man" is has truly found his most tenuous, yet energetic, point of balance, as he faces the future with tireless determination and intensity of focus.